Since the last meeting, the trustees of the school, Marvin Bobinger, Lavander Necaise and George Curet, together with E. E. ### To Develop 1953 P. M. A. Program

The experience and "grass roots" thinking of farmers of Hancock County along with the experience and thinking of farmers in the Nation's 3,072 other agricultural counties is going into the development of the 1953 Agricultural Conservation Program, says Fitzhugh Lee, chairman of the Hancock County PMA committee.

In recent weeks the county committee has been working on recommendations to be sent to the Mississippi State PMA Committee. Whatever recommendations are made will be considered along with recommendations from other counties in the State for inclusion in a State report to Washington.

Mr. Lee points out that in 1953 the first-things-first approach used in 1952 will be further expanded and emphasized and the farm-by-farm contacts by community committees will be extended to as many counties as possible. As in the past every farmer will have an opportunity to cooperate in the program. The emphasis will be on using ACP assistance to help carry out most urgently needed conservation practices on each farm.

In determining conservation needs, farmers will be encouraged wherever possible to use conservation plans developed for their farms with the help of the Soil Conservation Service, Extension Service, or other agency.

Chairman Lee emphasizes that it is not too early for Hancock County farmers to get started on soil and water conservation plans for their farms for next year. While conservation practices under the 1953 program will not be announced until later, farmers can get their plans made with the assistance that the 1953 program will cover, the most essential conservation needs of the farms of the county.

Buy Your Poppy Saturday, May 31

Dimes, quarters and dollars dropped into the Poppy Day contribution boxes of the American Legion Auxiliary in exchange for the Memorial poppies to be worn next Saturday, May 31, in honor of the War dead, will bring their full value of help to disabled veterans and needy children.

There are no campaign expenses to be deducted from the Poppy Day contributions," she explained. "All workers are unpaid volunteers, except the disabled veterans who make the poppies. There is no elaborate publicity or advertising campaigns, all newspaper space and radio or television time being donated. The material for working the little crepe paper flowers cost only a tiny amount per flower.

"Thus practically every penny of the amount dropped into the contribution boxes on Memorial Day will go into American Legion Auxiliary rehabilitation and Child Welfare funds. Most of it will stay here in Bay St. Louis and will be expended locally to aid war veterans and children of veterans during the coming year. As the Auxiliary's rehabilitation and Child Welfare programs are carried out by volunteer workers, there are no administrative costs to eat into these funds.

"Small percentages of the contributions will go to state and national funds, where, too, volunteer workers make every dollar count its full value in aid to veterans and children.

"American Legion Auxiliary volunteer hospital workers, especially trained to perform many types of services for sick and disabled veterans, are on duty in practically every veteran hospital, while volunteer field workers look after the welfare of veterans and children in communities throughout the nation. Poppy Day contributions count big for the disabled and needy children."

HOME MAKING CLASSES HEAR TALK ON CHILD CARE BY MRS. ALLEN

The Home Making Classes of the Pass Christian high school recently completed a unit of study on child care and invited Mrs. E. Allen to visit the department and discuss her own experiences with children.

At the beginning of her talk Mrs. Allen explained the vast difference between "house-keeping" and "home-making" and between "having a baby" and "being a real mother."

Mrs. Allen told the group they should store away as much knowledge as possible about home-making and the care of children for their minister, and by so doing, they could be of help to the community. She also said that when they are called upon at some time during their life to make a home and to rear children.

Included in her discussion were such topics as "How to choose the baby's clothing, how to bathe the baby, what and how to feed the baby, how to select toys for the baby and small child, early training of children, finding a small child's aptitudes, etc. At the end of her lecture period, Mrs. Allen held a 15 minute session of question and answer period.

Students are preparing themes based on the various phases of Mrs. Allen's talk and most questions were centered about the early emotions of babies.

Mrs. Allen believes that babies should be talked to, sung to, and given a great deal of affection. They should be made to feel wanted, loved and secure. In discussing punishment, Mrs. Allen said, "I doubt if a spanking ever did a child any good, but it may have helped his mother. Do not underestimate a child's intelligence. If he is made to see that his act has met with the disapproval of his parents—or a group, he usually corrects his own faults."

Mrs. Allen told the group she hoped they would get as much formal education as possible, have lots of dates, dress up prettily, and even take a job at some work they would enjoy before settling down to the real task of home-making and child rearing. "Be sure that you are ready for a home and baby," advised Mrs. Allen. "It is a job that requires love, work, patience and long hours, and nothing is more heart-rendering than a young girl with a sick child trying to assume responsibilities that are ready, willing and prepared to accept. Allen said that the job of home making and child rearing is the most interesting and rewarding work a woman can find to do when she is mature enough to accept the responsibilities."

PARENT-TEACHERS END YEAR OF ACHIEVEMENTS

On Thursday evening the candle-light service installation of officers, marked the end of the year for the Parent-Teachers Association of the Pass Christian Public Schools.

The service was a most impressive one, and was followed by a social hour in the Home Economics Department.

Summary of the year's work showed the completion of some 30 projects which included a Hal-loween Carnival that brought in considerable money and gave the youth of the town wholesome recreation; a Sugar Bowl ticket award which added to the funds in reserve. Mrs. William Kalif was in a position to reimburse the association for money belonging to the P-T-A. which was stolen from her store when her store was robbed some time ago. The P-T-A. made a gift to the Founder's Program, and on the Health Program donated $30 toward expenses for summer trips for children from grades one through seven to Cedar Point for flourine treatments on their teeth.

Fruit and nuts were donated at Christmas time to all children from the school. Refreshments were served by the P-T-A. at eight meetings during the year. A scrapbook of P-T-A. publicity and other items of interest was completed for the historian.

In cooperation with civic enterprises, the P-T-A. assisted the Rotarians by selling tickets for their minstrel, and by selling tickets and candles to assist the Memorial Park, they also made donations to the State P-T-A., the P.O. fund and the Red Cross and Cancer Drive, donated to the Girl Scouts and the Boy Scouts, and gave $50 toward the Lion's Club Respirator Fund.

In helping the school, the P-T-A. donated napkins and dispensers for the school cafeteria, background curtains for the stage and bench-tables for the elementary school grounds and contributed to the school Reference Library. Many small thoughtful things were done this year by the P-T-A. such as sending cards and flowers to the sick, notes of thanks and appreciation also went out in great numbers. Corsages were presented both the outgoing and incoming presidents at the installation ceremony, and a gift of appreciation was given to Mrs. Warren Adam who served practically two terms of office.

Other projects worthy of mention which were accomplished by the P-T-A. this year were the installation of equipment and supplies for the high school girls' lounge, and their untiring efforts

There's Nothing Like A Porch

By MADGE ALLRED

There's nothing quite like a porch for sitting and cooling off in the summer time, is there?

A large porch, screened and well protected against the weather, with wide eaves, or gutters, protected from the public and too much sunshine and with well planned and suitable shrubs and plants or awnings, can become a summer living room.

You can use such a porch for dining, sewing, rainy day play room. In fact, it can become an informal living room and may lighten your load of summer housework. It will help keep the regular living room clean longer.

The porch floor should always be easy to care for. It may be painted or natural as regular floors, or may be a cement or colored cement tile. Fiber and cotton rugs are durable and popular floor coverings that harmonize with porch type furniture. Linoleum and grass rugs can be used effectively.

Any porch will seem to take on a starchy freshness, if it is painted white and accented with blue or a cool color. Bright pillows, potted plants, flowers and lamps may be used to add color accent.

Porch furniture should include plenty of comfortable chairs, a couch for real rest, a table that may be used for games, work or eating, a magazine stand and table. Discarded furniture will not be an attractive addition to a porch unless it is well repaired and finished and made to go together.

Fabrics for the living porch should be of sturdy quality, washable and easy to care for. They should be colorful. Plastic or imitation leather, oilcloth, cotton monk's cloth, osnaburg, as well as feed sacks, are all good.

Hot weather and mud pie time for the youngsters makes mud stains a particular problem for mothers of small children. Most homemakers find the stains a year round problem, too, on clothes, shoes and rugs with other members of the family.

Even though dry mud comes off shoes easier than wet mud, the advice to homemakers is against the familiar practice of letting the mud dry on the shoes before brushing it off. Mud stains leather, and the longer it stays on, the worse the stain may be. Scrape off moist mud as promptly as possible. Then wipe the leather clean with a soft cloth. Stuff shoes with paper to help hold their shape, dry slowly and then repolish.

On rugs, scrape off as much wet mud as possible with the dull side of a knife. Let the rest dry and then brush it off. If a stain remains, sponge with a damp cloth, provided the rug can take moisture without removing the twist from the pile of the rug. Test the rug in an inconspicuous place if you are in doubt.

With clothes, brush off all loose dry mud first. Then, rinse mud-stained fabric several times in cold water to take out all particles of soil lodged in the yarns. Don't plunge mud-stained fabrics into hot soapsuds because some red or yellow clay makes a stain like ironrust that may be set by hot soapsuds. When you can rinse out no more mud in cool water, wash in warm soapsuds, using several washings, if necessary.

A new sewing thread of "Dacron" is being put on the market. It is an all purpose thread for use on all types of fabric—those containing new synthetic fibers, as well as cotton, silk, wool, rayon or nylon. Tests have shown it as simple to use as mercerized thread, either for machine or hand sewing.

The first threads put on the market are in white only, on 300 yard spools. The fiber holds its whiteness and does not take on a yellow tinge from washing or age.

Congressional Sidelights

by Congressman Wm. M. Colmer

CONTROL OF THE PURSE STRINGS

The founding fathers, in their desire to protect the people of the young Republic from the oppression of the burden of taxation, provided in the Constitution of the Republic that all taxes and appropriations must originate in the House of Representatives of the Congress. In order to keep control of the purse strings they further provided that the Members of the House should be elected every two years while the Senate Members could be elected for longer terms. In other words, these men were determined that the taxpayers should elect their representatives in the House, could keep close tab on the purse strings.

This system worked well for the first century of the life of our government. But gradually the Federal Government began to expand and expand with the resultant ever increasing concentration of Government in Washington. In various Federal agencies became so large, complicated and powerful that it became increasingly difficult for the Congress to keep up with and control these Federal agencies and their spending. This has resulted in the Congress granting huge appropriations to the Executive Agencies without spelling out in detail, as is largely done by the State Legislatures, exactly what the money is to be expended for. In fact, so large have these agencies become that it is practically impossible to list in an Appropriation Bill in detail the purposes for which the billions are to be appropriated.

Under the present system, and in order to attempt to curb expenditures, the Congress, a number of years ago, authorized a Federal Bureau of the Budget. The objective sought was proper and commendable. The trouble is that the Bureau of the Budget is responsible only to the President and his annual budget message to the Congress, based upon the findings of this bureau, the Congress only gets what the President recommends without the benefit of the Bureau's extensive investigation. In the final analysis, therefore, the Congress, through its Appropriations Committee, is more or less at the mercy of the President and the Bureau insofar as the justifications for the funds are concerned.

NECESSARY CONGRESS REGAIN CONTROL

Therefore, some of us who are interested in reducing appropriations and taxes are making a determined effort to return the control of the purse strings, as the founding fathers intended, to the Congress, the elected Representatives of the people. To that end, a group of Senators, spearheaded by Senator McClellan of Arkansas in the Senate, and a group in the House, under a bill sponsored by this Mississippi Representative, are sponsoring legislation to that end. In a sentence, the legislation would set up a joint committee of the House and Senate with an adequate staff which could make its own investigations and budget estimates independent of the Executive Department, thereby obviating the necessity of being dependent upon the Executive Department. The McClellan Bill has passed the

Norton Haas Elected Fraternity President

State College, Miss.—Officers for next year were elected at the regular meeting of Theta Kappa Phi at Mississippi State College this week. Norton Haas of Bay St. Louis was elected president; and James Byrd of Florence, vice president.

W. O. Favre Assigned To 3rd Headquarters

Third Army Headquarters, Ft. McPherson, Ga., Warrant Officer A. G. Favre, Jr., son of the late A. G. Favre, and Mrs. Favre of Bay St. Louis, Miss., has been assigned duty in the Special Services Section at Ft. McPherson, Ga., after six months' work in the First Logistics Command at Ft. McPherson.

The Mississippi's new job will be to help arrange off-duty recreation for soldiers at Third Army Headquarters.

A graduate of St. Stanislaus High School, Bay St. Louis (1941) enlisted in the Army in 1943 and went to Hawaii six months later. He has since been an ROTC instructor at Memphis, Tenn., and has served at posts in Alabama and North Carolina.

Warrant Officer and Mrs. Favre and their two children now reside in nearby East Point, Ga. Mrs. Favre is the former Miss Lydia Monti of Bay St. Louis.

BAY JUNIORS LOSE

The Bay Juniors journeyed to New Orleans last Sunday where they met the St. Claude Hardware Club, NORD group at Perry Roshin Park.

Though the final score found the Bayites on the short end, this was by far the best game these youngsters have played so far. The final score 11 to 10, in favor of the St. Claude boys, by no means tells the whole story. The game was well played by both teams and featured many outstanding plays and hitting as well as good pitching. The winning pitcher was Frank Christian, who last year made the Equire All-Star Club, and the loser was Larry Mathes. The game was actually lost in the bottom of the sixth when a double brought in two runs.

Outstanding hitters in the game were Sidney Duossan with two successive home runs, the first with one on and the second with two on and two triples by Larry Mathes.

A return game was scheduled on the spot for Sunday, June 8, at Bay St. Louis and one was also scheduled for June 1st with the TAC Club for Bay St. Louis. Both these games will be played at 2:00 p. m.

Senate and hearings are being being currently held in the House on our bill where the opposition to the bill is stronger because of the jealousy of the Appropriations Committee and of the House of its prerogatives in initiating appropriations. It is our considered judgment that the enactment of such legislation would save the taxpayers billions annually.

Potash Increases Pecan Tree Yield

By HOWARD SIMMONS

Significantly higher yield of nuts have been obtained from pecan trees receiving 5-10 lbs. of potash per year than from trees that were given no potash, according to G. H. Blackmon and Ralph H. Sharpe of the University of Florida Agricultural Experiment Stations.

In tests at the North Florida Experiment Station at Quincy, Fla., Blackmon and Sharpe applied 5 or 10 lbs. of muriate of potash to each of a group of trees - 5 lbs. to some, 10 lbs. to others - and the yields were significantly higher than yields from trees receiving the same treatment except for the potash application. Regarding crimson clover was used as a cover crop in the orchard.

They also found trees of the Moore variety that received potash were not as severely damaged by low temperature as trees that were given no potash.

On the whole the trees receiving 10 lbs. of potash each produced somewhat higher yields than those receiving 5 lbs., the Florida workers found that the difference in yields between the two groups was not large enough to justify the 10 lb. application. They recommended about 5 lbs. per tree for maximum results from the material used.

The trees that received no potash produced an average yield of 19 lbs. per tree, while those that received 5 pounds of muriate of potash produced an average yield of 25.2 lbs., or 6.2 lbs. more nuts per tree than the trees that received no potash.

TIMBER
Timber production in Mississippi can easily become a billion dollar industry. With the timberlands only producing at about 20 percent of capacity, the value of the timber industry of the state, including manufacture of forest products is worth approximately 350 million dollars annually. Five times this would be 100 percent capacity production and would be worth more than a billion and a half dollars a year.

Growing timber makes an annual interest per dollar invested of 15 to 25 percent depending on age of timber stand. So manage your woodlands properly. Don't clear cut. See your county agent for help in managing and marketing your forest products. Make the woods pay off properly.

How Rural Telephones have grown in Mississippi!

Month by month the rural telephone is becoming a bigger factor in Mississippi's farm progress. Southern Bell is presently engaged in one phase or another of rural telephone improvement in over 50 counties of the state.

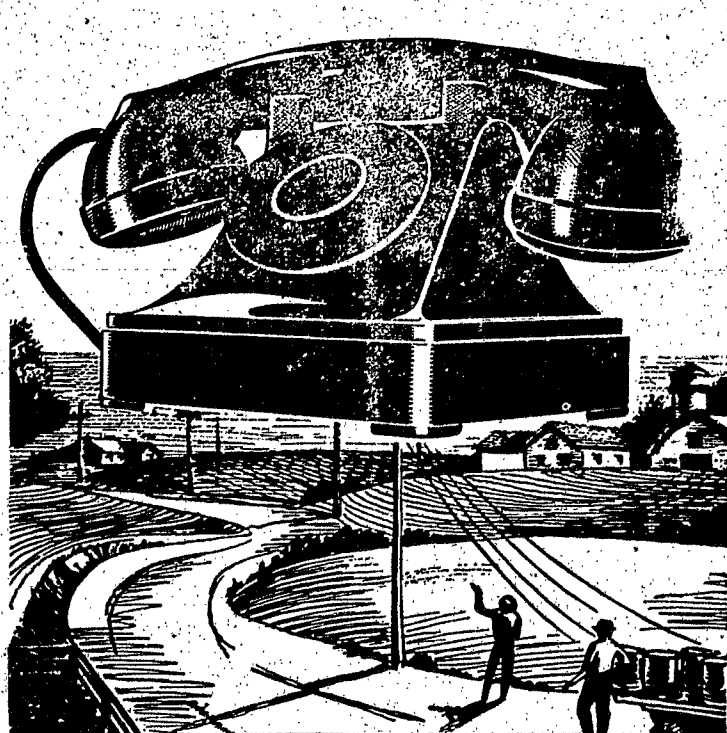

This activity is not unusual. It has been underway for a long time. During the last six years, the number of Southern Bell telephones in the rural areas of Mississippi has been quadrupled!

Now, there are over 32,000 telephones in the state's rural areas. A telephone puts a farmer within easy reach of the supplies and services sold in town, and he can keep in better touch with the markets for his produce, too.

Yes, the rapid expansion of rural telephones means a lot to all Mississippians because the more we extend service into rural areas, the more valuable telephone service becomes for all of us. And growing telephone service helps keep America strong!

MODERN MISSISSIPPI FARMERS ADOPT MODERN FARMING METHODS

The number of tractors in operation on Mississippi farms has doubled in the past six years. In 1945, total tractors in Mississippi—21,000. In 1951—42,200. Mississippi leads the way for other Southern states in the number of tractors put to work.

ANOTHER SIGNPOST OF PROGRESS in the Magnolia State is the growth of the beer industry, due to the increased public acceptance of legally-regulated beer as the beverage of moderation.

GOD . . . Or The Greatest Fraud That Ever Lived

Almost everyone will agree that Jesus Christ was a great man. Most people will admit that Jesus was a person of the highest morals . . . that He was an inspired spiritual leader . . . that neither before His time, nor since, has any one performed the miraculous works which He performed. Yet millions of people refuse to believe that He is the eternal Son of God.

The Catholic Church maintains that Jesus is the Son of God. He is either that—or the greatest fraud that ever lived.

For Christ Himself . . . under cross-examination by the high priest Caiaphas . . . was asked: "I adjure thee, by the living God, that thou tell us whether thou art the Christ, the Son of God." And Jesus replied: "Thou hast said it" (Matthew XXVI: 63, 64).

"O, sure," some may say, "Christ claimed to be the eternal Son of God. But His claim doesn't prove that He really is."

A man who only claims to be the Son of God, however, could not walk upon the waters and quiet the waves as Jesus did. He could not cleanse the lepers . . . give sight to the blind . . . bring the dead back to life. Nor could a man who only claimed to be divine return from the dead as Jesus and no other has ever done.

Scattered through the books of the Old Testament from Genesis to Malachi are numerous prophecies of the coming of the Savior—written as long as 1,000 years before Jesus came upon the earth. These prophecies describe the family from which the Savior would come . . . the circumstances of His birth . . . His life of preaching and His miracles . . . and finally, His passion and death in atonement for the sins of mankind. All of these predictions apply to only one person in all the annals of human history—and that one is Jesus Christ.

For more than 1900 years, the Catholic Church has taught without change or compromise . . . as it does today . . . that Christ is the eternal Son of God who became man—that only through Him can men find their way into the eternal grace of the Father. Upon this truth rests not only the foundation of the Church but the hope of mankind.

"He who is not with Me," Jesus said, "is against Me." Being "with" Jesus is not merely a matter of acknowledging His greatness. It is an obligation to know Christ and His teaching . . . to believe and follow Him . . . to pattern our lives to His example and precept.

If you want to know Jesus better . . . to have a fuller and clearer understanding of His teaching and His plan for our lives . . . you will find the answer in Christ's Own words as told in the Four Gospels of the New Testament. We shall be happy to send you a copy of the Four Gospels arranged in a continuous narrative for easy reading . . . upon your request and without cost or obligation. Write today for
